Appeal to the Parnellites.

A dispatch from Chicago June 5th says the following appeal on behalf of the Parnell Testimonial Fund has been issued in that city.

To the Irish race, its descendants, defendants and sympathizers throughout America: The people of Ireland who are, at the present moment, engaged in preparing a national proof of their gratitude to their leader, have called it a Parnell Testimonial. Faithful to the traditions of the past struggles and triumphs, they forget their own distress and wrongs from which they suffer, to unite in showing to their second liberator how well they appreciate his spirit, ceaseless self-sacrifice, self forgetfulness, and sublime devotion to their cause. In these, his qualities, they recognize the chief cause of their onward, though slow advance towards the destruction of an alien despotism, and complete realization of Ireland's nationality. In this testimonial, prelate, priest and people have again joined hands, issued their appeal, and with incomparable generosity sent in offerings which, whether great or small, are sanctioned by the spirit in which they are given. The National League of America will ever be faithful to the tireless auxiliary of forces which have rallied around the standard at home and faithful to that spirit at Philadelphia, where the convention was opened in that spirit and its grand work accomplished. To that spirit it has sworn undying fidelity. It appeals to the Irish in America to help it on. In the struggle of the people at home we have actually participated and in upholding it we carried arms for our leaders, and we claim our glorious share. Let us still continue the immortal records which love in free America for oppressed Ireland has begun and carried out so well. Let the answer to this appeal come as an answer to the roll call in the convention. Let it come generous and true from the Irish in the towns of Canada, from the rolling prairies of the far West, from the savannahs of the Sunny South, from the manufacturing centres of the East. This testimonial will be a reward for the labour of one worthy of his hire—of one who has unceasingly, at every sacrifice, borne the heat and burden of the day in the national struggle, who through weal and woe, through calumny and hatred has triumphantly faced the wavering foe. It will not only be a vindication of the past and a pledge for the future, but it will be another proof of Irish national gratitude, and of the Irish nation's devotions. It will be an answer to the wide-spread expectation and desire in this country to participate in a national testimonial destined for one who is not only the trusted political leader of Ireland, but is also a worthy descendant of America's beloved "Old Ironsides." The committee unhesitatingly makes this appeal to the people in America, and confidently await a response. Rev. T. J. Conarty, of Worcester, Mass., has consented to act as the Treasurer of the Parnell Testimonial Fund of America, and to him, therefore, all contributions should be sent whether from a branch of the league or from individuals. The list of contributions will be published.

Cats for Winnipeg

The New York Times says persons owning or living next door to people who own cats are earnestly advised to pack the cats in boxes and send them to Winnipeg without delay. The Winnipeggers are clamoring for cats, and at the latest advices were offering a dollar a piece for full-grown cats, and $10 per dozen for assorted kittens.

This city is one of the largest cat producing districts of the whole country. We raise, according to the last census, 74 cats to every lineal mile of back fence, while Philadelphia, which stands next to us in the table of cat culture, raises 69, and Boston only 32 the mile. Our climate and back fences are peculiarly favorable to the production of cats, and the result is a cat crop far in excess of our wants. The opportunity to export cats to Winnipeg should not in these circumstances be neglected. At $1 per cat the profit on every shipment of cats will be 100 per cent. less the cost of transportation. There is no other crop upon which anything like so large a profit can be obtained. No reason is assigned for the sudden and unsatisfied demand for cats in Winnipeg. It is probably rats or mice!

SIMPLE, Safe and Effectual is the popular verdict on the merits of Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure. It was never known to fail in curing all diseases of the Kidneys. As your druggist for it. 1w

Spring Lamb.

Queen Victoria is not fond of lamb, but prefers the full-grown mutton. It therefore costs no royal self-denial for Her Majesty to intimate to her liege English subjects that it would be well to let the lambkins frisk and live this spring. This was done ostensibly to give the flocks which have been thinned by disease and bad weather, an opportunity to recruit their ranks. There have not been wanting ill-natured people who have suspected the Queen of really wishing to institute a mild fast in honor of the defunct John Brown. Be this as it may, the fashionable world obeyed. Sentimentalists gushed over pretty little lambs, preserved from the cruel butcher-knife by their kind monarch, but the farmers who had lambs to sell, did not look at it in that light. They raised a rumpus, the result of which was a gracious intimation that people might eat lamb—provided, of course, they could get it. This kind of thing will settle itself without royal or any other interference. Sheep are not scarce, and if it were necessary for English farmers to import some, an infusion of new blood into their flocks would not hurt them.—Canadian Paper.

A PRAISEWORTHY OBJECT.

"None name it but to praise." This is true of that unsurpassed remedy, "Hagyard's Yellow Oil." It cures pain and inflammation, whether from sprain, bruise, or frost-bite, lame back, rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, croup, deafness, and for internal and external use. (31)

THOUSANDS have used Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure and willingly have testified to the immediate relief it gives after a few doses in Kidney troubles, and how a few bottles always effect a permanent cure. No one can afford to be without it. 1w

AFTER many years of patient investigation Dr. Van Buren, of Germany, finally succeeded in perfecting a Kidney Cure that would permanently relieve all cases of Kidney Disease. Be sure and ask your Druggist for Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure. 6td4tw

NOT to avail yourself of a trial of Dr. Austin's Phosphatine means to continue suffering without limit, with none but yourself to blame, for everyone who has tested it in cases of nervous prostration, depleted system, goneness of the stomach headache, bronchitis, and all wasting diseases say, "Never before did anything act like it." For sale by all druggists. Price, $1. 6td1mw

As the wintry frosts disappear before the rising sun, so do Kidney Diseases leave the body when Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure is faithfully taken according to directions. As your druggist for it. w1m

THIS IS RELIABLE.

R. N. Wheeler, Merchant, of Everton, was cured of a severe attack of inflammation of the lungs by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This great throat and lung healer cures weak lungs, coughs, hoarseness, bronchitis, and all Pectoral complaints. (34)

THE FRENCH BALSAM OF HONEY is especially adapted for coughs and colds in this climate. It never fails. Only 50 cents a bottle. None genuine unless a beehive and the name of Moore & Co., Yates street, Victoria, B. C., is on each bottle. dw

GRUMBLERS.

Grumblers, like poets, are born, not made; a man could no more become a first class grumbler of his own mere motion than he could become an astronomer It requires a certain conjunction of mental and physical conditions, without which no man can aspire to any reputation in the art. One of the most comprehensive qualifications is a liver in a chronic state of derangement, as it gives the necessary state of irritable tension to the mind and body of the grumbler, and enables him to take a high standing in the profession. Considered geographically grumblers are not confined to any particular spot of earth or climate, but are to be found something like the Scotch thistle, all the world over, and are as hard to exterminate. A curious fact about the chronic grumbler is that he is not, as might be supposed, a man hard up, or who has endured some grievous misfortune; such people are generally unusually quiet. No; the grumbler is usually a man in easy circumstances, for if he was not he would have something else to do. Really he knows this all the while; but to acknowledge it would be the ruin of him, for the bare fact that he was only contending with a chronic derangement of the liver would be too humiliating and send him into a state of real despondency. Now the grumbler is not a despondent man; he is too mentally active for that; but the trouble is that his activity takes a wrong bias. Whatever good fortune befalls a real grumbler only gives him fresh exercise for his vocation; but a stroke of ill luck is in some measure a secret satisfaction to him as his vanity is flattered at finding he has unwittingly turned up a prophet after all. There are a few Scotch thistles still left round Victoria, and specimens of the grumbler and croaker are still to be found in the city. They are simply men who have made up their minds not to be satisfied with any known condition of things, and their great motto is, "I told you so." Times may be ever so good, commercial prospects of the most cheerful description, and the grumbler himself may have quite as much as he can do besides grumbling. But it makes no matter; he has his usual string of grievances, because, in addition to the general prosperity, all sorts of things did not come about at all, or came about too late that were specially entered in the grumbler's logbook to come off on certain days like the weather in Vennor's almanac. Socially, commercially and politically, everything is awry with the grumbler, but he can only be said to have arrived at his best when he judiciously combines the avocation of grumbler with that of croaker. In this stage nothing can equal him except the man who is incessantly button-holing his friends to make bad puns to them. Nothing in the past, the present or the future is a source of comfort or satisfaction to him. In the first place he has a settled conviction that the country is ruined, or at least that it ought to be; and if any one suggests a ray of light on the horizon he immediately turns on the hose in the shape of some dolorous prediction, which he keeps coiled up for such occasions. With him the Island railway will never be built; the railway lands never opened for settlement; the drydock never completed; nor the city itself ever amount to a row of pins. He has waited long enough, and he always said so; it will be the same old thing over again. For the settler there is no land worth speaking of, and for the mechanic no employment. What is the good of bringing people into such a country? As for the government, what better could have been expected? He knew what would happen exactly. The Dominion has at last enveloped us in its slimy coils and Sir John is giving a sly wink to the other provinces before finally cracking our bones, once and for all. With this the disheartened man abruptly disappears round the corner with the intention of making a small investment in the real estate of a province which is beyond further ruin.

THE FOGHORN.

Our esteemed morning contemporary dubs The Colonist a "foghorn." The dear boy does us unintentional honor; for do we not read in the lexicon that a foghorn is an instrument sounded in foggy weather to warn mariners of the proximity of danger? What happier compliment could possibly be paid to a journal than to refer to it as a foghorn,—that is, a signal to the people that they are approaching a dangerous crisis and warning them by a kindly "toot" to change their course and thus avoid disaster? Foghorn! We ask no prouder title than that which our esteemed contemporary bestowed yesterday. It is a great, and, we hope, a not altogether undeserved distinction. The country will stand in need of a foghorn as long as the Standard shoal remains to lure political navigators to their destruction.

Death of the Veritable "Uncle Tom."

The Rev. Josiah Henson, the original of Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom," died on the 5th May, at Dresden, Ontario. He was born in Maryland on the 15th of June, 1789, but the most trying of his experience as a slave happened in Kentucky. He was sold from master to master, his pedigree being given the same as that of a horse. He bought his freedom, but was taken back into slavery again. He was sent to New Orleans in 1829 and was separated from his wife and children. He then determined to escape, and joining his wife and family near Louisville, he travelled to Canada on foot, carrying two of his children on a knapsack. The story of his escape was printed in the papers and Mrs. Stowe utilized it in her novel "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Eva, Topsey and St. Clair were drawn from life, and Mr. Henson often vouched for the truth of the story. He went to England some years ago and had an interview with Queen Victoria, who received him very graciously and presented him with her photograph in a handsome gold frame. He had forty-four grandchildren. Lately his health was bad. He suffered from paralysis, brought on, as he believed, by the cruel beatings he received as a slave. On one occasion his master, whom Mrs. Stowe has immortalized as Legree, broke both his arms with a cudgel. Mr. Henson was cheerful and jovial to the last, despite his infirmities and his age.

PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

Our Weekly Melange From the French Capital.

[Special Correspondence of The Colonist.]

7, RUE ROYALE, MAY 11, 1883.

THE PRISONER OF CLAIRVAUX.

Contrary to the reports industriously circulated to the effect that he had broken down under his confinement, Prince Kropotkine is apparently no worse for his seclusion; it seeming, in fact, rather beneficial than otherwise, since the prince is now stouter looking than when he was in the enjoyment of his liberty. This is scarcely a consoling fact for those friends of the incarcerated nobleman who were agitating for his release on the score of ill health. However, in the interests of science, to enable him to prosecute his researches, the princess is pleading for his transfer from Clairvaux to one of the Paris gaols. In the meantime the prince enjoys all the privileges possible in his present quarters.

FRANKLIN ILLUSTRATED.

The well-known north pole explorer, Julius Payer, is engaged in preparations for a work of art, which it will take him several years to complete, viz., a series of paintings representing the "The last days of the Franklin expedition," from the diaries and relics discovered of that martyr to science. In one of the large saloons of the Munich academy a number of sketches have already been sufficiently advanced to give a general idea of the great undertaking: foremost among them is "Franklin in the cabin of the frozen-in vessel sending his farewell greetings to his distant home;" "the abandoning of the vessel;" the "last survivor defending the bodies of his comrades against several polar bears." Payer will go to England for models of sailor types and after that finish his studies for the final execution in Munkacey's atelier in Paris.

"TAKE A CARD."

The invention of cards is French. They are said to have been invented about the year 1390, to divert Charles the Fourth, king of France, who had fallen into a melancholy disposition.

A SPARTAN ANCESTOR.

The following is the origin of the house of Metternich. The villages of Winnebourg and Metternich, near Coblentz, on the Rhine, are the property and birthplace of Prince Metternich, the celebrated diplomatist. The family name was originally Metter, but received the addition of the last syllable in the following manner: In one of the great battles of the fifteenth century, the emperor of Germany saw an entire regiment take to flight with the exception of one man, who stood his ground and defended himself gallantly till he fell covered with wounds. The emperor enquired his name. It was Metter. That night, at supper, talking of the regiment in question, he remarked, "They all fled—but Metter nicht." Many persons know that "nicht" is German for "not." The family adopted the additional monosyllable, and hence the origin of the house of Metternich.

CONTINENTAL FARMERS.

Land is cultivated on the continent in much smaller parcels than is customary in our country. Fifty thousand proprietors in France possess each an average of seven hundred and fifty acres; five hundred thousand have an average of seventy-five acres; and five millions an average of seven and a-half acres. In Belgium, where the land is more minutely subdivided than in France, the average area of separate plots is given at 1.36 acres.

A HAIRY CUSTOMER.

According to information received by the anthropological society of Paris, the longest beard in the world belongs to an artizan at Montlucon. It has not been cut for the last seven years, and measures one metre and sixty-six centimetres—about 5 feet 3 inches. It is crisp and fawn-colored near the roots, and light and silky at the extremities. Half way down it is divided into two parts, each of which forms a thick plait, which the man when at work folds round his body. On holidays only he lets it hang down freely, and then it reaches to his feet.

A FRENCH MISANTHROPE.

Police detective Kuhn had been for several days on the track of an elderly man of the name of Lelong, who was suspected of nefarious practices. Having at length caught his man, Mr. Kuhn enquired where he lived, and was considerably astonished when his seedy-looking prisoner took him to the Rue Galiléo (a street in the Champs Elysées, the most fashionably quarter in Paris) and on arriving at the imposing entrance of an aristocratic mansion, took a key out of his pocket in order to open the door for the "commissaire." "Do you live here, or is this perchance an empty mansion in which you have taken up your lodgings without permission of the owners?" "We have lived here for a century, from father to son," was the reply. "For the last fifteen years I have lived alone in this house, after turning off the hall porter and all the other servants." The police agent entered the building and was led through a long suite of hermetically closed rooms and corridors. On opening the window shutters he perceived, to his astonishment under a thick coating of dirt, carpets, furniture, oil paintings, objects of art, a variety of timepieces, all of the utmost elegance and highest value; along with these a number of rare volumes in artistic cases, a well furnished wardrobe, and an ample stock of the finest linen. In short he found himself in a palace, furnished in the most elegant and expensive style. The shabby looking proprietor of all these treasures took him at last into his bedchamber, the only apartment which he occupied. Here the window blinds were drawn up and afforded a peep into the garden. There stood his bed, a masterpiece in rosewood, covered with books and newspapers. In this bed Lelong spent most of his time. He never set foot in the other rooms, except when he wanted some new article of clothing, and this only happened when the garment he had worn up to that time had begun to drop in tatters from his body. Then, divesting himself of them, he would throw them into a corner of his bedroom, which was also the receptacle for his bed and body linen. He never sent his clothes to the wash, and thus they lay mouldering in all the corners of his sleeping apartment, a miscellaneous heap of dirty linen, old clothes, etc., emitting all sorts of abominable odors. Lelong "enjoys" an income of about $100,000 a year. The mansion contains, among other things, a well-appointed theatre, with a complete set of decorations and costumes. This millionaire in rags never saw company. The day following the visit of the detective, Lelong's mansion was entered by thieves, who managed to get off with a quantity of valuables. L. L. D.

The Barber Brothers--- A Desperate Fight for Their Capture.

WAVERLY, Iowa, June 7.—The capture of the noted Barber Brothers, occurred at a farm house four miles south of Tripoli, and sixteen miles southeast of this place. During the day they had been concealed in the barn of a German farmer named August Teglemere, and about 8 o'clock in the evening they went to the house and asked for some supper. Henry Teglemere a son of the farmer recognized them and succeeded in conveying this fact to his father whom he instructed to give the alarm to the neighbors. Henry remained at home to assist his mother in preparing the meal for the desperadoes. Several men all of whom were Germans, accompanied the elder Teglemere to his home; they had no weapons but one shot gun which it is claimed was not loaded. The intention was to surround the house, and when the boys came out, to spring upon them and secure them before their suspicions could be aroused. This plan was baffled through the excitement of one man who rushed into the house to secure the bandits, upon which the latter both drew revolvers and began firing promiscuously. Henry Teglemere sprang upon Bill Barber, knocked his hands away and caught him by the throat. The melee then became general, and Bill was soon on the floor, but managed to continue firing over his shoulder. Ike managed to escape his pursuers for a moment, and leaping through the open window, began firing at the men inside. By this time several of the attacking party were wounded, and finally one named Henry Hage went outside the door and succeeded in pinioning Ike by the arms. Henry Karsteng received a ball through the body, and exclaimed, "boys, I'm going to die." He still continued to fight, and aided in tying both boys by the arms with a rope which Mrs. Teglemere had gone to the barn and procured. Sixteen shots were fired by the outlaws; Ike emptying the two weapons he had on his person. Of five brave men who attacked them, all were wounded. The injured being as follows: Henry Karsteng, shot through the body and died at 1:15 in the morning; John H. Karsteng, shot in the left breast, hip and arms; Henry Teglemere, shot in the neck; Henry Pope, shot in the breast, the bullet striking the bone and coming out at the back; August Teglemere, finger bitten and crushed. It is thought all the wounded will recover. Word was sent to Waverly, and as soon as possible deputy sheriffs Davis and Corstensen went for the captured men and landed them in jail at 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

CHINA.

War Inevitable Between France and China.

SHANGHAI, June 5.—War is inevitable unless France abandons her pretensions in Annam. Li Hung Chang, who has been severely criticised by the Hung Li Yamen, or council of mandarins, because of his conciliatory attitude toward France, is now convinced that there is no way out of the difficulty except by fighting. The council of mandarins have decided to mobolize the Chinese army. The greatest activity prevails in the camps of instruction at Tebili. Kang Nam and Ha-Noi and at the naval arsenals of Shanghai and Foo Chow. Fifty batteries of artillery have been ordered to take the field against France and are now concentrated at Tien Tsin, awaiting transportation to Annam. The forts all along the coast of the gulf of Pechele are being strengthened. The following are the vessels which will in a few days be fully prepared for active service: Two steel-plated corvettes, built at Stettin after the model of the Sachem and armed with torpedo apparatus of the latest European pattern; two steel cruisers, built in England and armed with Armstrong and Gatlings; six steel gunboats, of English build, six iron gunboats of English build; four steel torpedo boats, built at Stettin, and several gunboats constructed at the Shanghai arsenal.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Herald editorial: "The Chinese have been for a number of years quietly preparing themselves to face hostile European powers. They may not prove able to use the new tools of war which they have provided, but if they should obtain success against France that might turn out to be a very important event in the world's history. It is a nation of 450,000,000 people, is energetic and easily handled, and though not warlike might make a mark in history if it should be induced by a successful foreign war to turn its attention to territorial conquest."

What Some People Say.

That J. H. Haverley, the great theatrical man, has failed.

That Dr. J. L. York will speak at the new Theatre Royal on Sunday and Monday evenings at 8 o'clock sharp. Admission free. *

That the Post rat-ifies its previous statement by saying it got its information respecting the reduction of wages at the Standard from two printers who were discharged to make room for "cheap" men. The weight of testimony would appear to be against the Morning Wrapper; and unless it can prove that the Post has been misinformed it will have to pass under the ban of the "rat-tat-tat."

That the Victoria Transfer Company are prepared to transfer baggage to and from steamers, or convey packages and parcels to any part of the city. Telephone calls, 129 or 113.

That copies of the tariff changes may be had at The Colonist office and the bookstores to-day. *

PORTABLE ELECTRIC LIGHTS.—During the past winter, at a large number of private and official soirees in Paris, the electric light has been used from storage batteries. The accumulators are carried in a vehicle which is stationed in front of the house, and electric wires are conducted into the building through the window. Incandescent lamps are placed in the ordinary candelabra, and the fitting of the most complex lighting is an affair of a very few hours.—London Nature.

The Colonist will probably announce this morning that the policy of the government with reference to the graving dock and the Island railway is a "complete success." This will be in order two or three days every week hereafter!—Standard.

You are right, Mr. Standard. The government policy is a complete success and it will be in order every day in the week to announce the fact to the public.

POLICE COURT.—Yesterday morning there were no cases before the police court.

The Standard and its "Rats."

It must be admitted that the denial of the Standard man of the charge brought against him by the Post, viz., reducing the wages of his printers, amounts to a sort of lefthanded plea of guilty. In his so called denial he says:

The paragraph we reproduce is a deliberate lie. The Standard will not employ and has not employed "rat" printers. Its object at all times has been to obtain good men and pay them well; and that object with one or two exceptions has been attained(!) to continuously since the establishment of the paper.

The words "that object with one or two exceptions has been attained" is just what the printers complain of. They say that "one or two" hands who worked on the Standard at 45 cents a thousand have been dismissed and two hands who work for 40 cents, and probably less, have taken their places. As it is probable that the workingmen of this city will take early steps to bring this important matter in a practical shape before the public, it may be allowed to rest where it is for the present. But the Post made a further charge against its morning rival. It said:

It has been known for a long time that that paper is in a bad way; that its circulation has been steadily decreasing, and that in spite of taking advertisements at any price, and offering a whole library of books to the people as an inducement to them to subscribe, the circulation continues to fall.

To this charge of depleted business and circulation the Standard vouchsafes no reply. Its truth is therefore tacitly admitted.

The following items are taken from a letter dated Spallumcheen, May 21st:—Crops are all in here and never looked better. Thirty-six men came up to Eagle river to-day to commence the construction of the wagon road. Settlers are coming in fast and all seem very well pleased with the country and soil; nearly all are waiting for their friends to follow them. Cattle are in fine condition, and grass looking beautiful. This year a few farmers are turning their attention to growing vegetables and roots, in order to be ready to supply the works near at hand. Farmers generally think the prospects are favorable for a prosperous year, and continued prosperity in the future.

We learn from a correspondent from the Okanagan country that cattle buyers are there from over the line and east of the Rockies.

Saturday evening one of the locomotives running in this vicinity ran into cattle that got upon the track below the powder works. Messrs. Bishop & Smith are one team ox the less, while another was injured.

Marine.

Barque Ida Lilly in ballast from Mexico, arrived in the roads yesterday. She will probably go to Puget Sound.

The steamship Dakota will leave the Shoal Point wharf at noon to-day for San Francisco.

Yesterday the barkentine Professor Nordenskfold, Capt. E. Jensen, arrived in Royal Roads from Hongkong with 541 tons of general merchandize after a passage of 57 days. She left Hongkong the day before the Alden Besse and had calms and easterly winds up to 170 deg. long. From that point she had good weather, but was detained on this coast 3 days by fog. She brought no passengers and entered the harbour and moored at Dickson-Campbell's wharf last evening.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The American ship W. A. Starbuck, which arrived at Queenstown recently from Astoria, reports that on March 7th, in lat. 57 deg. south and lon. 71 deg. west, she rescued the captain and survivors of the crew of the Italian bark Chisro. The mate and nine men had been washed overboard and drowned a short time before the bark was abandoned in a sinking condition.

The Sealing Schooner Thornton.

The steamer Pilot returned yesterday from Clayoquot Sound where the schooner Thornton is ashore. It appears that she (the Thornton) was riding at anchor when a gale sprang up, making the land a lee shore. She parted her cable and had to hoist sail and try to beat out to sea, but the main sail was blown away and as the only alternative left, she was headed for a sandy beach where she now lies in an easy position, with her stern well in the water at high tide. A hawser has been made fast to a kedge placed out in deep water and men sufficient have been left there to haul her off at spring tide, about which no difficulty is expected. The Thornton has only about 150 furs on board and there is small prospect of this season's catch amounting to anything. Two schooners have already left the sealing ground.

On the Rocks.

The R. P. Rithet reports coming down from New Westminster yesterday, a dismasted schooner was sighted on the rocks below Plumper's Pass. The vessel, which was laden with lumber, is supposed to be the Discovery.

PRITCHARD VS. THISTLE.—In this case yesterday, Mr. Justice Walkem decided adversely to the claim of defendant to continue as a yearly tenant on the premises known as "Thistle's Corner," and directed that the defendant should vacate the premises by Tuesday next.

THE steamer Evangel from Seattle and San Juan arrived alongside Welch, Rithet & Co.'s wharf last night, with a general cargo, consisting chiefly of lime, oats, etc. She will leave again at about ten to-night.

A DARK COMBAT.—Last evening about 9 o'clock a Siwash and a colored man engaged in mortal strife at the junction of Government and Yates streets. A crowd soon collected, the police arrived, the victorious black absconded and the Siwash was arrested.

THE SIR JAMES DOUGLAS.—Yesterday the Dominion steamer Sir James Douglas had her boiler and wheelhouse put on board at the Hudson Bay Co.'s shears. It is anticipated that lengthening her hull will give her an increase of speed of one or two knots an hour.

FROM THE NORTH.—The steamer Otter from the North which was expected last evening has about 190 tons of freight which was shipped by the new steamer Wellington from England, and was transferred at Departure Bay.

I. O. O. F.—Mr. Thomas S. Styles, of this city, has just been appointed District Deputy Grand Patriarch of the Oregon Encampment, I. O. O. F.

Raymond Holmes Comedy Company.

Last evening this already popular company gave a second performance of "Whims," a comical medley, the spirit of which was sustained from first to last. Mr. Raymond Holmes, as the dramatic author, was the life and soul of the piece, while Mr. Backus made a good U. S. army major. The vocal efforts of Miss Sophie Lingwood, so favorably known to Victorians, met with an ovation of applause and bouquets, while the carol of Miss Crouse "For goodness sake don't say I told you," and other songs, brought down the house, and were encored some six or seven times, besides receiving a handsome bouquet. The audience most thoroughly enjoyed the allusions to local topics. Miss Ada Wallace looked handsome and lively in her various parts and sang very sweetly. Mr. R. B. Belgrave as Charles Livingstone acted remarkably well and contributed to the success of the piece. Mr. Love assisted ably, while Miss Andrews drew forth shrieks of laughter as the old maid. There will be a matinee this afternoon and a final performance this evening.

THE SCHOONER THORNTON.—The tug Pilot arrived from the West Coast yesterday morning and reports the schooner Thornton still stranded on the beach.

THE R. P. Rithet came in last night having landed 27 head of cattle at Cadboro Bay for B. VanVolkenburgh.

EUROPE.

LONDON, June 6.—General Hicks has just gained a great victory in Soudan, over 5000 Arabs, killing 500. The Arabs fight bravely, as sacred knights, but their spears were useless against shells and cannon. General Hicks lost two killed.

DUBLIN, June 6.—Eight men were arrested at Parsonstown, charged with a conspiracy to murder a constable. A girl identified the men. The murder of the constable was decided upon at a regular meeting, of which one one of the prisoners, and the actual murderer, was chairman.

DUBLIN, June 6.—The Quakers in Ireland have distributed in county Donegal 220 tons of seed potatoes, thus relieving the sufferings of families in that county.

BERLIN, June 6.—Germania says the government bill affecting the Catholic church is the first step towards a more thorough revision of the May laws.

The National Zeitung says the trouble is ended and Prussia has laid down her arms. The center party, it says, has been repaid for voting in favor of the arbitrary power conferred on the police by the trade deputation bill. The people at the next election must avert the danger threatened by the church party to the government.

LONDON, June 7.—The truth of the story about the poisoning by the Invincibles in Dublin of a number of persons obnoxious to them is much contested. The Freeman's Journal of Dublin denies that there is any foundation for it, while the Central News' correspondent at Dublin reasserts the correctness of the story.

SCUTARI, June 7.—A force of Albanians have captured near Pre a Turkish convoy of nine battalions of Turkish troops sent to chastise the Albanians.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 7.—Suleiman Daound and Mehm Sami, accused of setting fire to Alexandria at the time of the bombardment, have been found guilty and sentenced to death. Eighteen officers were found guilty of complicity in the same crime, and sentenced to various terms of penal servitude.

LONDON, June 7.—In the Commons this afternoon O'Connell, member for Duncarry, gave notice that he would move that the appointment of the Marquis of Landsdowne, as Governor-General of Canada, was calculated to excite grave discontent both among the oppressed Irish and free Canadians.

The Times, in discussing the coming visit of Lord Chief Justice Coleridge to the United States, says that it is especially pleasant to observe that time has not snapped the bands knitting English and American law.

SCUTARI, June 7.—Several fights have taken place in the mountains between Albanians and Turks, resulting in heavy losses on both sides.

DUBLIN, June 7.—James Carey, the informer, protests against being kept in confinement. He still declines to leave Ireland, and says that if compelled to go he will return.

MADRID, June 7.—The agent of the Liberian republic has just negotiated with Spain a convention providing for the repeal of the law prohibiting the importation of free black labor into Cuba. Two hundred thousand slaves in Cuba will become free in 1883. The labor question will then become a serious one.

PARIS, June 7.—At a Cabinet council the Minister of Marine announced that he had a telegram, dated Hongkong, June 6th, from the Admiral of the French fleet in Chinese waters, which stated that the situation at Hanoi continues to improve and six companies of French marines and a mounted battery from Saigon passed through Hsppong on the way to Hanoi.

The police are keeping close watch on the movements of several Germans and Russians here suspected of belonging to the Anarchist committee.

LONDON, June 7.—The German steamer Claudius, which left New York on May 19th for Stockholm, in a collision off Tynemouth was badly damaged and run on the beach and sunk.

LONDON, June 6.—In the Commons the Home Secretary read a letter from Lord Rosebery, stating that he had not resigned the office of Under Secretary, because of the Home Secretary's statement touching his duty. Harcourt explained that Rosebery's acceptance of office in the first place was only temporary. In reply to a question relative to the American labor reform league, Harcourt said the government was perfectly alive to the necessity of paying attention to such menaces.

THE BLUE RIBBON CLUB will give an entertainment of music, recitations, dialogues and charades at Omineca Hall on Saturday evening. Admission, 25 cents.*

Eastern States.

ERIE, Pa., June 6.—Larry Ryan, a paralytic cripple, over whose alleged cure by a miracle performed by Rev. Father Maloney a sensation was created some time since, died to-day in the almshouse. It was given out by Maloney that Ryan was visited by him, and the latter being commanded to stretch forth his withered hand, in the name of God, did so, and the arm was made whole straightway. Before he died Ryan confessed that no such miracle was performed and the account furnished to the papers by Maloney was false, and he has no longer a right to the title of a priest.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Charles H. McConnell writes the following: "I see that my name is mentioned in dispatches this morning in connection with Haverley's financial troubles in New York, though I don't know why it should be. Even if I was a partner of his I don't see how I could be held responsible for his personal debts."

"Has Haverley lost in mining speculations?"

"To my own personal knowledge he has invested over $250,000 in Colorado mines and I think it is sunk, though he thinks not. I suppose there is a great deal of expense involved in deepening mines in operation."

McConnell says Haverley lost heavily on the Board of trade, but that he is doing a profitable theatrical business all the time.

NEW YORK, June 6.—O'Donovan Rossa being interviewed said: "Do I know anything about the alleged attempt to blow up the Welland canal? Well, I know the English government will have work enough on hand very soon. That canal is twenty-six miles long. They have had sentries on this side for every quarter of a mile; That requires 104 men. Now they must have an equal number on the other side, and then there is a relief force, which will be necessary every twelve hours, which raises the number to 416 men. Let Great Britain pay the men, and watch that canal. There are 100 other places that are just as necessary for them to watch as this. As far as my advice will go, I shall instruct our people to keep England constantly on the alert at a heavy expense. She has canals elsewhere and some property in London that will need as close a watch. The Welland canal is an appropriate object to commence with. It draws the trade of the whole northwest through Canada, and injures the American trade."

NEW YORK, June 7.—Another attachment was issued to-day in the Supreme Court against the property of John H. Haverley and C. H. McConnell on application made by ex-Judge Dittenhoffer in behalf of Sheridan Shook and James W. Collier. The amount of the claim against the defendants is $3000.

A special train left the Grand Central depot to-day for Garrisons with a large number of guests to the wedding of Hugh Oliver Northcote and Edith Fish. The groom is the son of Sir Stafford Northcote, the conservative leader in the English House of Commons, who was for a number of years the English Minister at Washington. The bride is a daughter of Hamilton Fish. The scene of the wedding was at the little church of St. Philips in the Highland, opposite West Point. The interior was trimmed with daisies and buttercups and other flowers and plants. The ceremony took place at 12:15, p. m., the services being read by Rev. Walter Thompson. The procession up the aisle was formed differently from the usual custom, being headed by the bride on the arm of her father, and after them the bridesmaids, the ushers remaining behind. Miss Fish made a fine appearance in her white satin robe with a court train, high neck and long sleeves, the front covered with flowers and point lace, garnished with orange blossoms. The veil was of point lace caught by orange blossoms; the hand bouquet was of lillies of the valley.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 7.—Work on the Northwestern Marine elevator, which fell to pieces yesterday under the pressure of 150,000 bushels of wheat, was continued this morning, but the bodies of seven tramps supposed to be buried under the ruins have not been found. The dock near the elevator was a great resort for tramps.

DENVER, June 7.—A Republican's Silverton special says two attempts were made yesterday to burn the city with the evident object of creating a stampede of citizens to the limits of the town and then rob the First National bank. Seventy-three indictments have thus far been found by the Grand Jury against gamblers and others connected with these dastardly plots. The city was patrolled last night by bodies of armed men. A vigilance committee has been formed and the city placarded with notices to the effect that the first man found connected with incendiarism or a shooting affray will be hung.

British Columbia and the Chinese Immigrants.

The present outlook is that the Chinese are to become the future Canadian population of British Columbia. The Chinese have, since the beginning of this century, spread rapidly through the East Indian archipelago, and form no inconsiderable portion of the population of Borneo, Celebes, Sumatra, and other eastern islands. They have, during the past twenty years, emigrated to Australia and California. At the present time the Government of Sir John Macdonald are acquiring thirteen and a half millions of acres of railway lands in British Columbia, which were promised the Dominion Government towards railway construction in that province. It may be since the Chinese immigration into British Columbia under the present Government promises to be very large, that the Government may be able to dispose of these lands to the Chinese upon terms advantageous to the public revenues. It would be well before the House rises to ascertain the views of the Government upon the question, and to learn whether they contemplate securing a very large Chinese immigration into the Pacific province. The present policy of the Ministry points in that direction, and the country, and especially the western portion of it, has a right to know what the Government's policy is. For it may be that British Columbia would rather assume the responsibility of the construction of so much of the railway as lies within the province, than to have 14,000,000 of acres of their public domain devoted to the settlement of a Chinese population.—London Adv.

A SLENDER REPAST.

Mr. Spoopendyke Brings Home Company to Dinner on Wash-Day.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

"Say, my dear," whispered Mr. Spoopendyke, closing the door carefully and approaching his wife with a broad grin on his visage. "Say, my dear, Specklewottle's down stairs in the parlor. He has come to take dinner with us!"

"Great gracious!" exclaimed Mrs. Spoopendyke, dropping her work and bustling up to the glass to arrange her hair. "What did he come to-day for? Don't he know it's wash-day?"

"He came for dinner!" retorted Mr. Spoopendyke, turning pale around the tips. "What d'ye s'pose he came for, to be washed? What's wash-day got to do with it? Think the man can be soaked in a tub and hung over the clothes-line with a measly wooden pin astride the small of his back? Well, he didn't, he came for grub, and you want to hustle around and get it pretty lively for him, or I'll begin to serve up things myself before long!

"But, my dear," remonstrated Mr. Spoopendyke, "There's nothing in the house! The clothes—"

"Then serve up the clothes!" roared Mr. Spoopendyke, who had utterly forgotten the day of the week when he invited his friend, and now wanted his wife to get him out of the scrape somehow, and at the same time not let him down with Specklewottle. "Just put the clothes on a platter and set them before him! You can explain to him that we only eat three times a week, like a dog in hot weather! That'll satisfy him, so long as he has the clothes to eat!"

"You don't imagine he would want to eat the clothes, do you?" asked Mrs. Spoopendyke, innocently.

"Just try him!" yelled Mr. Spoopendyke, enraged at the idea of being taken literally. "Just try him and sling in some of the natural grace you always put on at the table! 'Mr. Specklewottle, have some of this fricaseed petticoat?' and Mr. Spoopendyke held out the legs of his trousers as a woman holds her skirts and waltzed around the room. "'Mr. Specklewottle, have a little of this poached nightshirt? Now, Mr. Specklewottle, do try one of these fried socks and a slice of the pillow sham? Dear Mr. Specklewottle, pray let me help you to a piece of this shirt collar and a pair of stuffed cuffs! I made them myself, and though they are not as good as—' that's the way to do it!" continued Mr. Spoopendyke, suddenly concluding his remarks with a war-whoop, and presenting himself before his wife all out of breath. "Think you've got the bill of fare all right? See your way clear to a successful dinner party now!"

"There's some cold shad downstairs, and I think there is a raw ham in the cellar," ruminated Mrs. Spoopendyke, regarding her husband with a startled look of inquiry, as if asking if he thought Specklewottle would mind the meat being raw and the fish a trifle cold. "I don't think he has anything home on Mondays except cabbage and beans. Or perhaps he may have doughnuts and pie," she continued, hastily, seeing her husband swelling with a retort. "And I'm sure doughnuts and pies are good."

"That's what he wants!" howled Mr. Spoopendyke. "Bring forth the shad that froze to death in the house of Spoopendyke! Produce the ham with the crumpled horn that milked the shad that froze to death in the house of Spoopendyke! Develop the measly banquet and let joy be unconfined! Ain't you got any more sense than a bung-hole? Think I'm going to bring the aristocracy here to fatten on dead fish and live hogs? How long are you going to let that man sit downstairs in a state of starvation? Where's that roast of beef I brought home the other day?"

"I think we ate that all up the day it came home," sighed Mrs. Spoopendyke. "Do you mean that roast with the queer little sticks in it?"

"The same," replied Mr. Spoopendyke, nerving himself for another ordeal. "Did we eat the sticks? Am I to understand that there is not one little dodgasted stick left of all that affluent luxuriousness? Lift the impenetrable veil of obscurity off the secluded bower of the shrinking sticks," he yelled, as it dawned upon him that Specklewottle was in the parlor, waiting to be fed, and that the social problem was no nearer solution than when he started. "Let us unravel the mystery which hangs like a pall over the fate of the unhappy sticks, that they may come forth and fructify Specklewottle," and in the excess of his emotion Mr. Spoopendyke gasped for breath, and resting his hands on his knees, looked as if he were inviting his wife to a little game of leap-frog.

"There's some lettuce in the house, and I bought some strawberries to-day, and I could cook the steak I saved over for breakfast," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke, coming triumphant in at the end, woman-like. "And I will put on my new wine colored satin, and we will give him a nice supper."

"Going to put that wine-colored satin on the shad or the ham?" howled Mr. Spoopendyke, who had a man's idea that a dinner is not a dinner until it's roasted. "Think I brought that man here at six o'clock in the afternoon to take breakfast? Got some kind of a notion that cold fish, raw ham, wormy lettuce, green strawberries and fried cow are going to satisfy the craving of a man who had just won a bet of a dinner on—," but here Mr. Spoopendyke stopped short. The last revelation was unintentional.

"Was it a bet, dear," asked Mrs Spoopendyke, opening her eyes in astonishment. "Did you bring Mr. Specklewottle home here on a bet? If I had known that and you had given me time, I would have had a nice supper for you. I don't suppose he would have cared for a cold meal, under the circumstances. I really think—"

"That settles it," squealed Mr. Spoopendyke, mad at himself for what he had divulged, and angrier still as he saw that he must explain to Specklewottle how he was fixed. "When you commence to think the free list is entirely suspended. Some day when I catch you thinking, I am going to drive a spiggot in your head and advertise science on tap; book science a dime extra; free lunch from 11 to 1."

And with that prospectus Mr. Spoopendyke dashed down stairs and explained to Mr. Specklewottle that, owing to Mrs. Spoopendyke having a severe headache, they had better postpone the dinner or go to a restaurant.

"I don't care," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke, drawing a paper of candies from a bureau drawer. "I don't care; it must have been a very important thing they bet on, when cold shad warmed over and a nice beefsteak is not good good enough to pay it. Any way, he'll be glad of it for breakfast, and the next time he brings a man here for dinner he'll pick out some other day than Monday. Though I suppose that Mr. Specklewottle will go home and tell his wife that we don't have anything to eat here from one week's end to the other. Anyhow she owes me a call, and I hear that the dressmaker disappointed her all last week, so she won't pay much attention to what he does say!" and Mrs. Spoopendyke went down to her supper of strawberies and lettuce, while her husband took it with Specklewottle in fillets of beef and yellow Cliquot.

DR. AUSTIN'S Phosphatine is wonderful in its curative effects for man, woman or child. It has been tested by thousands in and about Boston with not a single adverse report. Phosphatine supplies just the properties a diseased, wasting system is lacking and yearning for, because it contains 80 per cent. of the life-sustaining elements (for brain, bone, blood or tissues) of the human system when in health. Try it. For sale by all druggists. Price, $1. 6td1mw

POPULARITY.

Why they are popular. The reason that National Pills are so universally popular is because they are certain in their action, mild and painless in their operation, and never leave the bowels constipated. They are sugar-coated, and contain no mineral poison. j(35)

DR. COOPER'S VEGETABLE LIVER-WORT AND KIDNEY CURE

Has no equal as a safe remedy for all diseases of the liver, kidneys and urinary organs. Over 250,000 bottles sold during 1882. Price $1 a bottle. MOORE & Co., sole agents. dw

A RAMARKABLE FACT.

It is a remarkable fact that W. A. Edgers, of Frankville, who was so far gone with liver and kidney complaint that his life was despaired of, was cured with four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters. At one time he lay a fortnight without an operation of the bowels. (36)
